

Announcement Letter April 2010

Dear Brethren:

The Passover season is behind us, and the people of God now look toward the next significant day in God's plan—Pentecost—to confirm our purpose within that Master Architect's work for man's salvation. Thank you, dear brethren, for being part of those few at this time who relish His annual Holy Days and who have structured your lives around the hope of that new Kingdom to come to this earth.

For the present time, the world thinks we are all very foolish indeed. But to those truly called and converted—the firstfruits—even while living within Babylon, we are most blessed of all peoples. The scattered faithful of God remain very important today, even if we may often think of ourselves as being insignificant. You are not. It is a blessing to know you and to serve you, and to commune together with the true God around this world through His Holy Spirit. There is nothing more pleasing to that Creator than to find faithful children holding fast to the Truth in spite of our many personal challenges. Those challenges are building, and our work in overcoming is getting harder, day by day. But please take heart. Your efforts are not in vain. Your work is not insignificant. You are the forerunners, with Jesus Christ, in a plan that is bringing great blessings to the whole world. That is the meaning of Pentecost and your role in that plan. Never doubt it. Never underestimate your critical role in that plan. The offices to which you have been called to are most auspicious indeed. You are poised to qualify to help lead and teach this world how to truly find peace and happiness. Your efforts will not generate appreciation from the world in the short run, but a day is coming when the peoples of the earth will thank you for all you accomplished, if you are determined to hold firm until the end of this age.

Having now completed our obligations to God through heartfelt honor of the Passover and the Feast of Unleavened Bread, let us now bolster ourselves with His divine help in commitment to that great spiritual task before us, as we begin to move through the rest of this year in God's holy service.
